These cheats have been around for a while, and may be familiar to veteran players, but can still be useful for new players who aren't as comfortable with StarCraft's unique gameplay style. The classic StarCraft game had a series of codes that could be entered into the game to give certain advantages. These tricks can also be used in the remastered version. Here are some of these cheats that work in all game modes except multiplayer. When you enter a cheat correctly, an alert will appear on screen. - black sheep wall ==> Reveals the complete map. - war aint what it used to be ==> Disables fog of war. - whats mine is mine ==> Adds 500 minerals to available resources. - breathe deep ==> Adds 500 gas to available resources. - show me the money ==> Adds 10,000 units of each resource to available resources. - food for thought * ==> Sets maximum supply to 200. It's not necessary to build supply depots or silos. Just surpassing or stockpiling suffices. modify the phase variance * ==> Ignores previous requirements to construct buildings. operation cwai * ==> Accelerates building and unit construction, with instant research of abilities. power overwhelming ==> Activates god mode. The enemy will inflict no damage. something for nothing ==> Automatically gains all upgrades. medieval man * ==> Disables all game features. You need to re-enter this to disable it. noglues ==> Enemy cannot use psychic abilities. staying alive ==> Allows you to continue playing when the game ends. there is no cow level ==> Instant win. game over man * ==> Instant loss orphelia ==> Automatically selects a mission. To use in Brood War, simply prefix with "x" followed by the race number, as seen here: protoss5 // xprotoss2 terran# (Replace # with the mission number), for example: terran5 // xterran2 zerg# (Replace # with the mission number). radio free zerg ==> Activates a new musical beat (only works when playing Zerg). Cheats with an asterisk in their name will also benefit your opponent.
